Service and Conservation Corps are nimble organizations, constantly evolving to meet the changing needs of our communities, resource management agencies, the workforce, and America's young people. The Corps Network's 2018 National Conference, The Trail Ahead, looks to celebrate this creativity and position Corps in new and emerging fields. At The Trail Ahead, we'll examine innovation within the Corps movement, as well as new ways in which Corps can confront larger societal concerns. Attendees will learn how Corps use technology and creative partnerships to better meet their Corpsmembers needs, promote program efficiency, and expand work in such fields as resiliency, food security, marine conservation, and infrastructure improvement. At The Trail Ahead, we'll bring new voices and ideas to the conservation and workforce development arena and build on our efforts to create a 21st Century Conservation and Service Corps movement.
